'Every double page is a mass of illustrations ... each variety a group with a wonderfully appropriate collective noun to describe it ... quite breathtaking. Don't miss it.' Reading Time November 2010.

Patricia Mullins has released three Giclee prints from this 'breathtaking' book. Giclee fine art technology achieves higher quality prints than the normal lithographic process and better colour than screen printing. Prints conform to worldwide archival standards consistent with collectible fine art.
